The feeling of walking through the front door of a hotel and into the lobby is always exciting, as it's at that moment your holiday officially begins. But what used to be a simple thoroughfare for guests, has today evolved beyond recognition.

Today's lobby is multi-functional space, with eye-catching features, unusual services or fun discoveries. It's still an area for checking in and out, but it's also a social hub, a place to wine and dine, and even a party zone.

Hotel booking site Hotels.com reveals some of the most outstanding lobbies in hotels around the world.

The game zone lobby – Hotel Zetta San Francisco, USA

Hotel Zetta is an urban retreat where sophisticated, state-of-the-art features meet interactive gaming. The lobby is the social hub of the hotel, with its lounge, bar and even Mac stations for guests to use. The most eye-catching feature, however, is the giant 30ft Plinko game wall. It cascades down from The Playroom on the mezzanine, where guests can enjoy a game of pool, shuffleboard, ping pong or giant Jenga. You're never too old to play games, especially if you're on holiday.
